

Brian Simmerman is the Chief Financial Officer of Albers Aerospace and part of the ownership group. The company is headquartered in the Dallas area and is comprised of Three Business Units: (1) Manufacturing, (2) Engineering, Aviation, & MRO, and (3) Innovative Technologies.

Brian supports Albers Aerospace's investment portfolio, driving Albers Finance organization comprising of Accounting, Program Controls, HR, and Contracts who are critical business partners to the growth and operational excellence of Albers.

Brian has over 25 years of aerospace and defense. He has broad experience in program controls, rates and budgets, business processes and systems, Government compliance, merger & acquisitions, program management, and financial planning and analysis. Brian has also led several ERP implementation systems.

Brian began his career in the United States Marine Corps and transitioned over to NAVSEA to their finance department. He moved over to Raytheon where he held numerous leadership roles in finance and the program office, earning Program Manager of the year for Strategic Initiatives. Brian is a certified program manager, an Earned Value Management (EVM) certified manager and is a certified six sigma specialist.

Prior to joining Albers, Brian was the CFO of a private equity defense portfolio that consisted of four facilities with over $250M in revenue.

Brian graduated with a BS in Finance from Indiana State University and a Master's in Finance from Indiana University. He can be reached at bsimmerman@albers.aero.

BRIAN SIMMERMAN

CHIEF FINANCIAL OFFICER

