She is an experienced controller, cash flow projector, business process developer, financial opportunity generator, and HR director. Christy has held various financial and leadership roles within the retail, banking, and auto industries. Her fiduciary and organizational responsibilities have been complex and varied, ranging in scope from a $1billion dollar asbestos-related trust fund to a multi-operational auto dealership. Christy has also utilized her skills to lend expertise to volunteer organizations.

Christy enjoys the challenge of balancing the monetary mechanics of several industries within Albers Aerospace: Aviation, Innovative Technologies, and Department of Defense contracting. Christy excels at balancing financial pragmatism as a complement to the fast-moving agility of an explosively innovative company. Though her colleagues often hear Christy lamenting the challenge of making financial spreadsheets as glamorous as the latest technological breakthrough, she embraces her role of keeping the engine running with a relentless drive for excellence.

Albers Aerospace entered a period of rapid growth in 2021 with two acquisitions in the last half of the fiscal year. Christy and her team successfully integrated the companies on the financial, HR, and contract frameworks and maintained continued focus on maturing the program management capabilities across the company portfolio.

Christy is a 1992 graduate of Texas A&M University (Class of 1991). She earned a Bachelor of Business Administration in Accounting and a second Bachelor of Business in Marketing. She can be reached at cmotes@albers.aero.
